CHARACTER IN BRICK

Artcotta is a prominent supplier of handmade, extruded, and pressed bricks in Europe and the UK. The company places a strong emphasis on regional variations in both imperial and metric sizes. Our product range is continuously expanding as we strive to provide customers with high-quality products that are tailored to their individual requirements. Artcotta ensures that all of its bricks meet rigorous standards before being released onto the market by emphasizing quality control throughout every stage of production.

Our skilled brickmakers use traditional manufacturing methods to expertly replicate brick colors and textures that have been present. This makes our bricks ideal for restoring, renovating, and conserving period properties while also providing an authentic appearance for new construction projects.

Our bricks are made from only the finest materials to ensure that they meet all industry standards and provide a long-lasting aesthetic appeal that will withstand the test of time.

We can provide brick samples for your consideration, as well as offer a brick matching service and specialist conservation advice.

As a long-standing member of SEDEX, we are committed to empowering sustainable and ethical supply chains. This is an integral part of our business.

Our customers can be confident that Artcotta's products are ethically produced to the highest international standards.
